

Process Paper

I chose to create a website about NATO due to my interest in politics. I find the struggle between NATO and the USSR to be one of the most fascinating subjects in history.

I used the internet and books to conduct my research. I found information from a large selection of primary and secondary sources.

I decided to build a website due to my interest in technology. Creating a website was a wonderful way to gain knowledge about computers. I created my website using HTML and CSS. I uploaded these files to a web server where they can be easily accessed by any computer with an Internet connection.

My topic relates very closely to the theme. I created the project around the encounters between NATO and the USSR and how it shaped our world into what it is today. I also briefly covered the encounters between NATO and terrorists.
